Ok...so I know you guys are reading this. . Adam is a great guy. ..but clearly looking for someone better than me. .....problem is he wont get it. I nurture him...encourage him.
Support him. ...but it not enough...

Should I walk away

Hi Michelle. Sure we guys are reading this (look at the number of hits) and that is very true, he won't find a woman better than you, in every or any way.

Every man has two brains and unfortunately in some, their second brain can be more active than the one in their skull ;)
So then, how many more times do you have to forgive Adam before the forgiveness pot runs dry and there is no more forgiveness left in Michelle? How many wasted months or years?

If you want to walk away from this guy only you can make that decision, use your head over your heart and the decision becomes clear.
