Views on Aspects of BDSM

Posted by bouncer4000tqy - 2008/07/03 17:30

Although Wheelchair bound - Cerebral Palsy - I have always been tactile and Physical,

Never sought Marriage or Children or Pets for Reasons which should be obvious.

Penile Sex No because of the fear of its consequenses. NO FURTHER COMMENT!

Rather belatedly I came across bdsm.

I just long to be control squahed Love bitten and a Huge Female eaters tummy in my face dressed or undressed and if kissed I like to be devoured by Strict decent consent of course and the lady must sincerely enjoy doing it to me. Lastly really weighty cuddles that truly engulf me!

No bedleaping just deep gratitude and enjoyment of the whole being of the person doing it to me! Not forgetting the respect element.

I know there are other elements to bdsm which baffle me!

But I have always adored SSBWS who are Hungry Physical Intelligent and confident.

I now invite genuine comment

If this has offended in anway I apologise to those affected. I do so much respect the work of this site and ofcourse its owner.

Well firstly, at least you no what you want, every single person is diffrent, but you never no you might find a match out there, but i do think, there is more to things than the sex side no matter what prefrence you have!!! i mean what about feeling, emotions surley they should come first, get to no a person for who they are and then discuss what things rock each others world... anyway good luck in your search Kas xx
